10,000 TROOPS, RECALLED FROM IRELAND, GO ON DUTY IN THE BRITISH COAL STRIKE ZONE

MEN AGREE TO A SMALL WAGE CUT ON TROLLEY LINES UTILITY UNIT TOLD

Attorney for Employes Opposes Petition of North Alabama Traction Company

COMMISSION TAKES THE CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT

Company Seeks Permission to Operate One Man Cars Here

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., April 5.—Motormen and conductors of the North Alabama Traction Company at Albany and Decatur voluntarily agreed to accept a cut of about five per cent in their wage scale in a hearing before the Public Service Commission Monday afternoon of the petition of the receiver of the company for permission to operate one-man cars on all lines. The proposal was made by Melvin Hutson, attorney for the men, who opposed the receiver's petition. Witness for the company testified that the monthly deficit of the company now is about $800. The proposed cut of the employees would have saved about $250 a month. If the company is permitted to operate one-man cars the services of eight employees will be dispensed with, which will save the company a little more than $900 a month and will give an earning of about one hundred dollars a month provided other expenses do not increase. A decision by the commission is expected soon.

Rate Decision Up.

The Mobile Gas Company entered no protest before the Public Service Commission Monday to the promulgation of rules and regulations for gas service in Mobile, which were suggested by Morris Knowles, Pittsburg engineer, who made a thorough investigation of the service in Mobile two months ago. R. I. Spear, general manager of the gas plant, told the commission his company would abide by and establish such rules and regulations as the commission thought advisable and necessary.

The commission then took the case under advisement. It is probable a decision will be rendered during the next few days and that in addition to the establishment of the specific rules and regulations proposed by Mr. Knowles, the commission will set up general standards for gas service which are recommended by the bureau of standards at Washington.

Station May Cease to Exist.

Banner, the place where a large number of state convicts are employed in the coal mines, will cease to exist as a railroad station if the petition of the Louisville and Nashville railroad is granted by the Public Service Commission. The case was submitted Monday after testimony had been submitted by the company.

It was stated that the Pratt Consolidated Coal Company, the only large shipper at this point, was willing to have the station discontinued, with the undertaking that if the arrangement is not satisfactory the station will be opened again. The warden at Banner mines protested against the closing of the station, saying the state will be forced to haul men and supplies from Littleton over a road which is almost impassable at some season of the year. With same for the railroad stated that this road is a pike and serviceable at all seasons and that the station of Littleton is only a mile further than the station at Banner.

Rate Protested.

Small bottling companies located in towns in the Montgomery territory made a great protest to the Public Service Commission today against the petition of the Coca-Cola Company for Montgomery for a reduction in the freight rates on beverages in glass bottles. They contend that the es-

HARDING INDICATES PEACE TREATY WILL REMAIN ON HIS DESK

By GEORGE R. HOLMES, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—President Harding indicated strongly today that he never will resubmit the treaty of Versailles to the United States senate, and that so far as his administration is concerned the covenant brought back from Paris by Woodrow Wilson has been shelved.

With no apparent opposition coming from the White House, or State Department, Republican leaders in the Senate are going ahead with plans to end the war with Germany by passage of a resolution.

Unless direct orders to the contrary are received this week, the Knox resolution will be reintroduced soon after the Senate convenes next Monday and pushed to a vote.

The peace resolution has been the subject of long and earnest conversation with Rene Viviani, the special envoy of France to this country.

When the purpose and intent of the Knox resolution were fully explained to Mr. Viviani and he was assured when finally presented it would contain a "declaration of policy" warning Germany that the United States would regard future German militaristic moves as "directly menacing American interests," the distinguished Frenchman is reported to have thrown his hand aloft in characteristic gesture and exclaimed "Voila."

"Tale of Woe" is Told the Commission by Weakley, Head of Water Companies

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., April 5.—Some of the troubles of public utilities in this period of little income and great outgo were submitted to the Public Service Commission today by John B. Weakley, of Birmingham, who is interested in the water plants of several cities of Alabama. Mr. Weakley spent sometime before the commission in a statement about the troubles, the many troubles which each of the companies has to give to him each month.

Mr. Weakley said many of the companies are not making expenses. He filed petitions during the day for permission to make such increases in the water rates of Attalla, Jasper and Girard as would permit "at least the payment of expenses." He also requested the commission to employ an engineer at the expense of the companies for the appraisal of the property in order that a valuation may be made and the rates based on this valuation.

Perhaps the most interesting but troublesome situation Mr. Weakley's company faces now is at Oneonta, where a petition has already been filed for increases in water rates. Several months ago the city council established certain water rates, which the company accepted. Last month it cancelled the rates and ordered lower ones. The company sought to collect the higher rates, contending that the ordinance could not be used to abrogate a binding contract.

Eighty or one hundred persons refused to pay the higher rates. The water was cut off from some homes. An injunction was secured prohibiting the charging of the higher rates and the court threatened to send the superintendent of the Oneonta plant to jail for contempt of court.

Mr. Weakley asked the commission to establish a reasonable rate for this water service and to do it as soon as possible as the company is now not obtaining any revenue from those are opposed to the higher rate.

Mr. Weakley also proposed that the commission employ an engineer to make appraisal of the property at Attalla and Jasper in order that a basis for the charges may be obtained.

Shuffle Shocks St. Louis, Crusade Against New Dances Begins There

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

ST. LOUIS, MO., April 5.—"Perhaps entire nakedness would not be so suggestive because more repulsive."

This is how Rev. Father P. J. O'Rourke, pastor of St. Mark's Catholic Church, sums up his survey of the modern dancing frock, as worn in exclusive clubs and hotels of St. Louis.

"Upright and demure maidens?" declared Rev. Father O'Rourke, in a bitter written tirade against the modern dance in which he announces the closing of St. Mark's parochial hall indefinitely to all public dancing, "dance these things and while so dancing are as near naked as they can well be."

Following the failure of an attempted "blue law" in the State Legislature, normal crusaders are centering their activities on a drastic drive on modern dance steps, as interpreted in St. Louis dance halls, clubs and hotels. The drive is expected to spread from St. Louis to the remainder of the state and there has been talk of introducing regulatory measures, especially as to the style of dress for dancing, in the Legislature.

Followers of Terpsichore have been thrown into consternation. The shuffle, toddle, camel walk and others of their ilk seem doomed to fade into the past.

Rally Day Sunday Observed by S. S.

The annual missionary and rally day was observed by the Central Baptist Sunday school Sunday and following a splendid program by the young people, Rev. W. P. Wilks, the pastor, delivered an evangelical appeal to those who are not Christians. More than $30 was contributed by the school to the 75 Million Campaign Fund of the church.

Evangelist Will Speak at Shops

Rev. J. M. Walker, now conducting a series of evangelistic services at the Southside Baptist church will speak at the shop gates at noon Wednesday and Friday in a revival of the non-day Y. M. C. A. services. William Thompson, cornetist, will lead the musical program.

Thanks Expressed by Commiteemen

We wish to thank the business men and women of the county for their liberal donations to our Field Day exercises, and to express our appreciation of the excellent services rendered by the city officials of Albany-Decatur in helping us conduct our parade through the cities. To all others who aided in any manner toward the success of the exercises, we thus express our gratitude.

RED GOVERNMENT TO DENATIONALIZE FACTORIES FRENCH WAR OFFICE HEARS

Russian Economic Failure is Given as Reason for Changed Attitude

PLANTS TURNED BACK TO FORMER OWNERS

Nationalization Had Been One of Pillars of the Soviet Rule

PARIS, April 5.—The Soviet government, according to advices from Moscow, to the French foreign office today, has decided to denationalize all factories. They are beginning within the Moscow district.

The Russian economic failure is given as the reason. The factories are being turned back to their former foreign owners for exploitation.

The dispatch may be of tremendous significance since it indicates a great change in the economic policy of the Soviet government, which is not unlikely the direct result of the recent pronouncements of the American State Department in which Secretary Hughes announced American would be glad to resume peaceful trade relations with Russia, provided that Moscow gave proof of a peaceful, safe and solid foundation for such relations.

The Paris foreign office being inherently hostile to the Soviet, may be supposed to have given the news from Moscow its own interpretations. Nationalization has been one of the pillars of the Soviet economic policy and has been regarded by big capital in other countries as the main obstacle to peace with Russia.

OFFICERS PROBING ALLEGED BAND OF CHICKEN THIEVES

Officers Beasley and Thompson, of the Albany police department, and Chief of Police Yarborough, of Athens, last night made what they characterized as two important arrests in connection with the operation of a band of alleged chicken thieves in the Twin Cities, Athens and Huntsville. Two white men, taken into custody here, today were held in the Albany city jail pending further investigation by the officials.

According to reports to the local police many cases of chicken roost robberies have been reported from North Alabama communities during the past few weeks. Officers believe the work was done by an organized band, it was stated, operating on a large scale.

DEFENSE MOTION OVERRULED, TRIAL OF PLANTER GETS START IN GEORGIA

Prisoner Arrives at Courthouse From the Atlanta County Jail

STATE WINS 1ST POINT BY JUDGE'S DECISION

Sheriff is Ordered to Close the Doors of the Court-Room

COVINGTON, GA., April 5.—Facing trial on the first of three charges of complicity in murder of negro farm hands he had employed, John Williams, central figure in Georgia's most sensational death case, arrived here early today from the county jail at Atlanta, and was taken to the county courthouse, where preparations had been made to start his trial on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Willie Preston, negro.

Preston was one of the three negroes whose bodies were found in this vicinity in the Yellow River, which caused the investigation which led to the discovery of eleven bodies of former Williams employees.

Even if Williams should be so fortunate as to escape conviction in this county other indictments are expected to be returned against him in Jasper county.

One hundred veniremen were on hand this morning when Judge Hutcherson, of the Stone Mountain circuit of the Georgia superior court, mounted the bench.

Special deputy sheriffs were sprinkled about the courtroom and patrolled the street outside. There have been rumors that trouble might develop during the course of the trial by Judge Hutcherson and Governor Dorsey have expressed confidence in the better citizens of Newton county and have scorned suggestions that state troops be mobilized here as a precaution.

Greene F. Johnston, counsel for Williams, asked for a continuance in the trial of Williams when the case was called and Solicitor General Brand announced the state ready for trial. He said he had not had time to prepare his case.

The state scored its first point when Judge Hutcherson overruled the defense's plea for a continuance.

The main floor of the trial room was filled with white people but no women were present. The balcony was filled with negroes. The courthouse square was filled with automobiles.

After giving orders that everyone in the courtroom during the trial must be seated, Judge Hutcherson directed Sheriff Johnston to close the doors and keep them closed.

Five of the prospective jurors, called into the box for examination, were excused on legal excuses, and five men to fill their places were called.

This group was designated as jury number 1. Work of organizing a similar group to be called Jury Number 2 was started and Judge Hutcherson ordered the sheriff to prepare the jury room for 48 men, indicating that four jurors would be called and that the trial jury would be selected from these.

Independents Lose to Legion's Squad

The American Legion baseball squad opened its 1921 season with a victory over the Independents, another city league entry, Monday afternoon, 13 to 6. The Legion will have a strong team this year, indications are and negotiations will be entered into a little later for games with Legion posts of other communities. All members of the team are Legionnaires.

The score by innings follows: Run American Legion 2 0 5 5 0 0 1 3 Independents 0 2 1 0 0 1 6 Batteries: Robertson and Jervis; Hodges, Johnston and Humphries.

STEVE SULLIVAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN UNUSUAL WAY BY OWN MACHINE

Car Starts When It Is Cranked, Pining the Owner Beneath

INTERNAL INJURIES ARE FEARED TODAY

Suffers Many Bruises and Painful Injuries to Both Legs

Steve P. Sullivan, well known Albany resident, is in a serious condition at the home of his sister, Mrs. D. F. Harrington, 701 Second avenue West, as a result of an unusual automobile accident.

Mr. Sullivan returned home about 8 o'clock Saturday night and stopped his automobile in front of the garage at the home, preparatory to putting it in for the night. He alighted from the machine and walked over to open the door, forgetting to shift the gears of the car.

Returning again to the automobile, he cranked it, the machine immediately starting, pinning Mr. Sullivan underneath. He was dragged some distance across the street, the automobile finally coming to a stop beside a fence.

Medical assistance was summoned immediately. Dr. M. W. Murray attending the injured man. In addition to severe bruises, two broken ribs and painful injuries to both legs, it is feared that Mr. Sullivan may be injured internally.

He was reported as resting as comfortable as possible this morning.

PLANS FOR AIDING COTTON FARMERS ARE MAPPED OUT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—A plan to concentrate the banking resources of Southern financial institutions in order to expedite the sale and movement of cotton to foreign countries was formulated and tentatively endorsed today at a conference between a select committee of the Southern Bankers Association and officials of the war finance corporation.

Eugene Meyer, managing director of the finance corporation, announced after the session with the bankers that substantial progress has been made toward lifting the credit barriers from the doors of the cotton growers. The way has been paved, it was said, for definite launching of projects to provide credits for cotton exports though it was said the details of these plans remain to be worked out by the committee of bankers in co-operation with their local state and industrial leaders.

PRESENT SITUATION AS SERIOUS AS ANY DURING THE WAR IS CURZON'S WARNING

Hope for Abatement of Industrial Crisis Receives Setback This Afternoon

IN ARMY AND NAVY

Transport Workers Debate Decision to Line Up With the Miners

By EARL C. REEVES, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, April 5.—"The present industrial crisis is as grave as any crisis during the war and might easily develop into a national convulsion," Lord Curzon, foreign minister, said in the House of Lords this afternoon.

Hopes for abatement of the British industrial crisis caused by the coal strike received a serious setback when Labor Minister Robert Horne, in the course of the parliamentary debate, rejected the suggestion of an additional month's government control of the mines and coal, pending efforts to reach a settlement.

In such a plan, which was supposed to be favored by Premier Lloyd George, was seen the last ray of hope for averting a general nationwide industrial upheaval with the transport workers and the rail men joining the miners.

Almost simultaneously with this development it was announced that all army leave have been stopped. A similar measure had been previously announced for the navy and this was regarded as further indication that the government reckoned with the necessity of strong military measures to prevent labor disturbances on a large scale.

Ten thousand troops, recalled from Ireland, have arrived in England and are being distributed in the coal fields, the International News Service learned this afternoon.

Behind closed doors in the great central hall, labor headquarters, 400 delegates of the transport workers organization met a delegation of miners. President Goaling, of the miners union, handed them an appeal which read:

"Your turn comes next. The miners lockout is the first battle. In the front line trenches stand the men of the coal fields. Are you going to refuse them your support?"

No action was taken by the transport workers.

Meanwhile the crisis is gaining an ever firmer grip upon the nation's industries and the mine tie-up is marked by increased violence. Wild rioting was reported early today from the collieries near the Scottish village of Benhar. There a crowd of 500 miners led by bagpipes, overpowered the guard and attacked the workers who have refused to walk out. Disturbances also are reported from other districts.

CHARLES AGREES TO QUIT COUNTRY

STEINAMANGER, HUNGARY, April 5.—Charles, ex-Emperor of Austria, has signed an agreement to leave Hungary "for the good of the country," but an attack of bronchitis makes it impossible for him to leave before the end of the week.

The whole affair is expected to be settled not later than Saturday. Hungarian Foreign Minister Czaik arrived from Budapest Monday afternoon and pointed out to the ex-ruler that "the situation had gone too far." The agreement read: "Owing to the external situation, I consent to leave Hungary, believing it to be the best interests of the country that I should not remain here."

MR. HUGHES TO MR. SIMONS AND INCIDENTALLY TO ALL HYPHENATES

At least a partial realization of the fact that the greatest conflict of all time was fought out upon the battle field, a few years ago, and that America's best blood was shed to halt and punish the German Imperial government seems to have at last come to the Republican party leaders.

The unequivocal, direct statement of Secretary Hughes that the Germans were morally responsible for the world war, and should govern themselves accordingly will clear the international sky for a while; at least, until the Germans can pull up some new cloud of propaganda. Mr. Hughes made his historical statement in reply to an official note from Foreign Minister Simons of the German Republic. In his note Mr. Simons is credited with an effort to sound-out the Harding administration, as of its attitude toward Germany; and if possible to get some statement that would give comfort to the German government in its expressed determination not to pay the Allied indemnity. Hughes gave the Germans no comfort. He told them in a blunt manner, that they caused the war, and the thing for them to do was to make every reparation possible.

The only diplomatic language used by Mr. Hughes, was where he said pleasantly that it was a pleasure to him to believe that Mr. Simons' government would do every thing possible to make terms with America's allies in the great war. All else Mr. Hughes said was plain Anglo-Saxon for America refuses absolutely to give the German people any comfort especially such as they evidently seek.

As it took Americans to finally make a complete expose of the duplicity and cunning lies told by the Germans during the war; so it now takes plain lawyer, plain every day Judge Hughes, to tell the post war liars of the Fatherland, where they may go. A few more notes such as Hughes sent out Monday, and the art of diplomacy, as it has been practiced for long centuries, will be a lost art. The Germans should stay as far away from the precipice of diplomatic deception as possible. If one of their leaders should happen to tell the truth, few would wish to believe it, for fear they had been deceived after all.

Mr. Hughes' answer to Dr. Simons, is also an answer in the negative, to all Germans in America, who voted for Harding, out of love of the Fatherland, and out of hatred for President Wilson, the man who had exposed them to the world and conquered them on the battle field.

The comfort they hoped for, because of a defeated Wilson and a triumphant Harding, who was overwhelmingly elected largely by those luke warm against Germany during the war—has not come, and never will. Because Mr. Harding kept still, while they abused Wilson, in private and in public also, if they had only dared, was taken by certain disloyal Americans to mean that Harding's election would be a victory for the hyphen in America, and a return to power of certain race elements in our national and local politics.

If they read it aright, Mr. Hughes' note to Simons will be the signal for un-American people of all nationalities, to cease their activities; to cease the promotion of race consciousness, of race hatred and of every thing in general that tends toward the lowering of the standards of true Americanism.

LESSONS IN HEALTH WHICH SHOULD BE CAREFULLY HEEDED

Health considerations are never secondary in importance, as upon good health life itself must depend and all the valuable activities of life.

Because this is true the health pageant of the Morgan county school celebration of Friday, should never be forgotten or its vital teachings disregarded. Every feature of the parade of Friday, either directly or indirectly, taught a lesson of health.

If the economic health lessons of the marching children from the Decatur schools are properly learned and worked out in practical life, in so far as one county can be independent economically, Morgan county's economic future is assured. To take three lessons taught in this parade from among the many—there was the lesson of the veteran marchers, who marched with greater precision than any group in the long lines, it was service and work together. There were the overall clad "baby men," who created so much enthusiasm—they taught the most practical lesson in health of all, for they personified "work." And there was a significant banner carried by more than one of the children of this school which read "Zest." Now, there is no such thing as "zest" in any undertaking where those who try, have not a reasonable possession of health, and "zest" means success, but health must produce that enthusiasm that we call zest.

From a purely physical health stand point the "pageant" staged by the Albany Schools under the direction of Miss Dudley, was of vital importance. The State Department, for the cure and prevention of Tuberculosis, had a representative here to observe the working out of the plan and to make record photographs; as was also the case with the Morgan County Health Unit.

Because in this drama, real characters made a fight for the life of a little girl of "Mother Dear," and because the actors did their parts admirably all those who saw were stirred deeply as to their individual responsibility in providing proper exercise, and proper environment for the rising generation.

eration. What this carefully wrought out lesson ought to teach is doubtless clear to those who saw it Friday. For those not privileged to see the pageant, the following official, summary, as to what it was "driving at" may prove of service:

The pageant opens with a bugle call, after which appears the herald proclaiming the appearance of the Monster, disease, who makes the horrible announcement, "More children to devour." Next comes Mother Dear with the sweet and fair child, Vivian, whom she loves so dearly and immediately disease tries to draw little Vivian to him. In response to shrieks for help from Mother Dear, Sir Lionel, Knight of Old appears—ever keen to hearken to distress, brave and true as he is, Sir Lionel knows that he would perish should he make the attack alone.

Then it is that he calls on all true knights, squires and pages, a number of whom enter and assemble in old crusading style. Sir Lionel begins the attack alone but ere he reaches the foe the loathsome creature, Filth—chief ally of Disease, appears. Then enters Cleanliness attended by her maids Spic and Span. She guides the hand of Lionel and Filth is slain. Disease makes a mighty uproar and Lionel calls for assistance. Four knights appear with four beautiful maids, Sunshine, Water, Exercise and Sleep to guide each staunch, firm army. Just at the moment you think Disease will surely be slain, many Germs enter and confuse the knights. But each knight acquires himself full worthy and well and the Germs retire. Then Lionel deals a mighty blow which slays Disease.

HOGS AS MORTGAGE LIFTERS NEW BANK POLICY ANNOUNCED

In the Sunday issue of the Memphis Commercial Appeal there were two pictures of hogs. The one showed the drove of hogs rooting up the soft dirt in the field and eating of the feed stuffs that grew on the surface. The other showed a drove of about equal size roaming aimlessly around in a field that was covered with snow.

In commenting on the pictures, The Commercial Appeal said:

These two pictures were taken on the same day during the past winter. One of them was taken in the state of Ohio, the other in the state of Mississippi. These pictures show the kind of pasture available in Ohio and Mississippi during the past three months.

In Ohio snow pastures are the order along with freezing temperature from three to five months of the year; but the hog is the mortgage lifter and the principal financial prop of the average northern farmer.

In the south the hog has a green pasture the year round, if the hog owner has sense enough to provide the pasture.

The hog pasture in this picture is on the Pine Crest Farm at Charleston, Miss. That farm is owned by our good friend, Col. Tom James: at least that was the title we gave Tom during the time when cotton was $1 per. But if Tom continues to hold that title he will have to hold it through hogs for a year or two because in 1921 cotton will not support any higher title than a major.

The hog in the south can have green pastures twelve months in the year.

We people here in the South are too dependent upon other sections for the things we eat and wear. This is a policy that is keeping the south poor, and some banks are beginning to recognize it to be a bad policy to lend money to buy food and feed products that should be raised in the South; for money spent for this purpose does not come back, even cotton at a high price being insufficient to effect a balance in our favor.

The president of the Greenwood, (Miss.) National Bank says that "when a planter has to pay for all the feed he uses, as well as other expenses of raising a crop, there has to be an exceedingly favorable cotton market or he will not be able to pay out. Under such conditions, it can hardly be said that such loans are very desirable for a bank to make."

This policy as announced by the Greenwood bank is becoming more or less general. Cotton has been too long the sole money crop of the Southern farmer, and unless acreage is materially decreased this year and food and feed stuffs raised instead, the South will be poorer next year than it is today. This was recognized by Georgia bankers some time ago, and in their recent convention at Macon the fact was brought out that a vast majority of the bankers in our sister state are no longer lending money to buy fertilizer or otherwise finance another cotton crop.

The next six weeks will tell the story as to whether the South will win or lose on its agricultural operations this year, and The Anniston Star sincerely hopes that the farmers of this section will reduce their cotton acreage to a minimum and live at home by planting food for man and beast.—Anniston Star.

If Charles of Austria, now sick in bed, had acted as he did on a little different date, he might have gone into history as the King of All Fools Day. We'll say he would!

First hit, first to recover. That is a true five word history of the automobile industry in big America.

Charlie, of Switzerland, recently and for a very short while of Austria, hurt himself, but glory be, he hurt the plan of Bill of Holland, much worse.

The announcement that a scientist has discovered an absolute cure for seasickness—by treating a certain gland in the ear—will come in mighty handy for the 60,000 sailors just scheduled for a reduction in income.

Editor The Daily:

Permit me to thank you most sincerely once again for publicity given me and my cause, this second trip to your fine community. I just wish there may be returned some abiding benefits for your citizens. With quite much travel and observation, I judge that the Albany-Decatur Daily is doing unusual service for its coming section. With great respect.

Appreciatively,

April 2, 1921.

The Albany-Decatur Daily, Gentlemen:

Please send for the enclosed a paper of April 1 with pageant story to each of the following:

Mr. Chas. M. DeForest, National Tuberculosis Association 38 Fourth avenue, New York City, N. Y.

Mr. E. G. Routzahn, Russell Sage Foundation, 130 E. 22nd St., New York City, N. Y.

Yours very truly,

ARTHUR J. STRAWSON,
Supervisor Field Service National Tuberculosis Association.

P. S. I think your county should be congratulated on the splendid piece of public health work done in putting on this pageant and parade.

To The Editor:

The following statement of the brotherhoods, taken from The Atlanta Constitution, April 4 will doubtless be of interest to many people of this city and North Alabama. I understand not a man who quit work on the A. B. and A. has returned to the service of that road and are "standing pat" with the faith that right will finally triumph.

Charles E. Layman.

Information reaching us from reliable sources indicates that acts of violence and persecution of former employees are being indulged in by persons now in the service of the A. B. and A. railway, and it is also alleged that these persons are guilty of serious indiscretion toward employees who have withdrawn from the service. These are matters which officials in charge of the railway should control and it is hoped that they will see to it, as they must admit that the former employees are entitled to enjoy their lawful rights in the premises, which rights they will insist upon enjoying.

Instead of the stockholders of this railway being "widows and orphans," as usually stated by officials of railway corporations, it should be noted that 123,584 shares of stock are held by corporations located in Boston, New York and Chicago, while 35,000 additional shares are held by certain individuals whose connections, as shown in "Who's Who" make interesting reading, viz.:

Samuel G. Bayne, holding 4,000 shares, was in the oil well drilling business 1874 and 1875, and was the first president of the First National bank in Bradford, Pa. He also organized banks in Texas, Kansas, Mississippi, Minnesota and Ohio, as well as the Seaboard National bank, of which institution he is president. Mr. Bayne is treasurer of the Produce Exchange Deposits company and president of the Atlas Improvement company Charles Hayden, who holds 10,000 shares of A. B. & A. stock, is a partner of Hayden, Stone & Co., of Boston, which company holds 65,516 shares. Mr. Hayden is president of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, chairman of the board of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railway, as well as a member of the executive committee and a director of the American Locomotive company. Mr. Hayden is further connected with the corporations in that he is a director of Adams Express company and a Gramp Shipbuilding company, and a trustee of the Equitable Trust company, in addition to being either an officer or director of many other railway companies.

Owns 11,000 Shares.

M. Taylor Payne holds 11,000 shares of the stock of the A. B. & A. and from 1880 to 1892 he was general solicitor of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad of which company he is now a member of the board of managers. He is a director of the National City bank of New York, and a number of railways and other banks.

Percy R. Payne, who holds ten thousand shares of the stock of the A. B. & A., is president of the Prospect company, founder of the firm of Payne, Kendall & Hollister, and a director of the Commercial Trust company, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal company, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal company, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal company.

Restaurant Man Couldn't Eat His Own Food

"It's pretty tough for a restaurant man to have stomach trouble. My customers were always telling me I ought to eat in a good restaurant. The fact was I couldn't eat a thing that didn't bloat me up and no medicine or doctors helped me. I tried everything recommended and at last Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I assure you I didn't have to look any further. Since taking it I have been a well man." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. S. M. Thompson in Albany, Owl Drug Co., in Decatur, and druggists everywhere.

ware Navigation company, the Cuyahoga and Susquehanna railroad, the East River Gas company, the Nevins Church Press company, the New Amsterdam Gas company, Rotel corporation, the Sheepshead Bay Speedway corporation, the Stenter Electric company and the Syracuse and Binghamton railroad.

Six Boston, New York and Chicago corporations, with the four gentlemen named above, own 158,536 shares of the total of 300,000 shares issued when the railway was re-organized. It is interesting to know that this stock sold by the reorganizing syndicate at a rate of $12 per share, having a par value of one hundred dollars each; therefore, instead of the railway having been financed by thirty million dollars, the stockholders really contributed three million six hundred thousand dollars for the total stock issue. In the reorganization the promoters paid to themselves hundreds of thousands of dollars received for this stock for personal service, underwriting fees, and so on.

Who Will Be Paid?

A glance at the list of financial interests involved in the A. B. & A. controversy shows beyond a question to whom it has been proposed the employees shall pay in reduced wages a million dollars annually. Can they be criticized for refusing to make this contribution to people whose whole purpose is to continue the manufacture and sale of stocks?

Evidently having reference to the A. B. & A. situation, the mayor of the city of Atlanta, during an address at Fitzgerald on Thursday, March 31, is quoted as saying that a railway company losing a million dollars a year has no right to demand that the entire loss be passed on to labor unless it also provides that in a period of prosperity profits be passed on to labor. Some of the gentlemen named herein as stockholders connected with the Delaware Lackawanna and Western, which railroad admits earning and paying more than 60 per cent of its stock. The employees of that road are paid only the just and reasonable wages established by the United States railroad labor board. If losses should be cared for by appropriating wages of employees, why should not the D. L. & W. pay to its employees wages higher than those established as just and reasonable? Mayor Key's statement clearly sets forth a position heretofore taken by arbitration boards and courts where the question has been raised as to the propriety of the employees being required to accept unjust and unreasonable wages to offset the cost of railway operation.

Test in Acoustics.

To test the acoustic properties of a hall, the lecturer proposed counting the number of seconds the clapping of the hands could be heard; if five or six seconds, the hall is unfit for public speaking, for which it must be reduced to two or three seconds, but for musical purposes a little longer may be allowed. Draping the hall is the best way to reduce the reverberation, belief in the efficacy of stretched wires being a mere relic of superstition.

DOCTOR SERVED COSTLY DISH

Unexpected Guests Caused Sacrifice of Blooded Pigeons to Set Forth Required Meal.

The favorite avocation of a widely known surgeon in his model farm near Chicago. It pays no profit except great pleasure. He is hospitable, always asking friends to dinner. One Sunday about noon 14 unexpected guests arrived. His wife was aghast. "My goodness," she said, "we haven't a thing to give them."

"Oh, anything will do," said the doctor. So the lady of the house consulted the cook.

"What about that crate of pigeons out in the barn?" asked the cook. "How many are there?" asked the lady.

"About eighteen," was the answer. "Well, wing their necks and fix them up."

"Dinner was served and the large platter of squabs was brought to the table. "What's that?" exclaimed the doctor. "Now, Fred, just go ahead and serve," said his wife.

"But what are these?" he expostulated. "Just some pigeons we found in the barn," she answered.

"Great Scott!" he exclaimed, "those pigeons cost $25 apiece!"—Journal of the American Medical Association.

BAGGLEY-SAWYER

A quiet wedding occurred Sunday, April Sunday, April 3rd, at the Mc Kendree Methodist church, Nashville, Tenn., when Miss Shelia Sawyer and Mr. Bransford Bagley were married, the Rev. Waldrop officiating. The bride was attired in a suit of blue twill-cord and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses. She was attended by Mr. P. Cloyd as best man. Mr. H. P. Cloyd served as best man. Mrs. Bagley is one of Albany's most popular and lovely young ladies. Mr. Bagley is a valued employee of the L. & N. railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Bagley will make their home in West Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Webb leaves for California on tomorrow, where they will in future reside. They have many friends here who greatly regret their departure. Mr. Webb has resided here about 28 years and enjoys the respect and esteem of the people in all walks of life. He has been especially active in labor circles and his council will be missed by his associates. He is known as a "square deal" man and has won his reputation for just and fair methods. This community wish for Mr. Webb and his own much happiness in the Golden West.

Mr. J. L. Draper went to Hartselle today.

Delicious punch is being served today by the Morgan Furniture Co., to all callers, the occasion being a demonstration of Red Star Oil Stoves and Round Oak Pipeless Furnaces by Messrs. Macon and Cromwell of Michigan. The demonstration will last through Wednesday.

Mrs. D. A. Clemmons and little daughter of Birmingham, will arrive this afternoon to be the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Williamson.

The Music Study Club will meet on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. J. D. Jeffreys on Lafayette street instead of with Mrs. Seneca Burr.

The many friends of Mrs. C. S. Dougherty, mother of Mrs. Robert Daniel who underwent a serious operation at Montgomery several weeks ago will be glad to know she is convalescing at her home of her daughter Mrs. R. T. Rives, of that city.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE XLVH.—ARIZONA

HISTORICALLY, Arizona is both the youngest and probably the oldest of our states. While it is the last of the states to be admitted to the Union and as such dates its existence only from 1910, its history before the advent of white men dates back into the dim past. Here were located those interesting people, the Cliff Dwellers, and the ruins of their cities high up in inaccessible places have caused much speculation as to these ancient people. It is supposed that these Cliff Dwellers were the ancestors of the Pueblo Indians and were decidedly more advanced in civilization than their neighbors. They were probably of the same race as the Aztecs of Mexico and understood irrigation, agriculture and the building arts.

It was rumors of the great Pueblos that instigated the first visit of the white men. Padre Nizan in 1539 explored this territory and he was followed by Coronado in search of the mythical wealth of the Indian cities. Coronado, though failing to find the reputed gold, did discover the Grand Canon of the Colorado.

This region was considered part of Spanish territory and when Mexico declared its independence it became a Mexican province. After the Mexican war the section north of the Gila river was ceded to the United States and the southern portion was acquired through the Gadsden Purchase in 1853. In 1903 Arizona was separated from New Mexico and made a territory.

The derivation of the name Arizona is uncertain, but it possibly came from the Spanish, meaning "dry belt." (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

In Northern Chile. Northern Chile depends almost wholly upon two industries, nitrate and copper mining. Of these, the former is most important, both from the standpoint of extensive operation and the direct economic effect upon the population as a whole.

STAMP GUM FROM POTATOES

That Vegetable, the Foundation of Sticky Substance That is Used on Postage Stamps.

Every time a person ticks a United States postage stamp he gets a taste of a sweet potato. The gum on the stamps comes from that vegetable. All of the gum used on the stamps is mixed at the bureau of engraving and printing, where the stamps are made. It is spread on the sheets after the stamps have been printed.

In a liquid form, the gum is forced up through pipes from the basement, where it is made. These pipes lead to a series of machines consisting of rollers between which the sheets of stamps are fed one at a time. A fine spray of the liquid falls upon the rollers. The sheet with its wet coating of sweet potato mucilage passes from the rollers into a long horizontal line filled with hot air. When it comes out at the other end of the line the gum is dry.

There are two kinds of postage mucilage. If one could see the packages of stamps as they come to the postoffice ready to be sold, one would find them labeled, according to season, "summer gum" or "winter gum." The former is much the harder of the two and was devised to keep the stamps from getting sticky in warm, moist weather.

COTTON MARKET SHOWS STRENGTH

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 5.—The cotton market opened firmer today at a net advance of 18 to 31 points in line with firm cables from Liverpool, which apparently were influenced by a more hopeful view of the British labor situation.

Wall street and spot concerns bought quite freely at the start and there also was some purchasing of near months by Liverpool. After reacting slightly from the initial levels, values again responded to supporting orders and at the end of the first 15 minutes were firm to about 28 points above yesterday's close.

No High Places in Florida.

The highest point in Florida whose altitude has been determined is Iron Mountain, in Polk county, which stands 325 feet above sea level according to the United States geological survey department of the interior. The average elevation of the state as computed by the geological survey is about 100 feet.

GERMANY LOST TOY MARKET

United States and Japan Now Supply Canada With Playthings She Does Not Produce.

The United States is now first in supplying those toys needed to supplement the output of Canadian factories. The additional quantity required, by Canada to supply its own domestic trade amounted in the last year to $1,500,000 worth. Before the war Germany was the chief source of supply, but the United States now leads and Japan has likewise made a notable advance in its toy shipments to that market. In 1913 American exports of toys to Canada amounted to $278,138 and in the year ended March 31, 1920, the total was $1,136,372. Japan's trade grew from $18,738 to $277,946 in the same period, while there was only a small increase in toys sent from the United Kingdom.

The toy and doll industry of Canada, according to Vice Consul Horace M. Sanford at Ottawa, has made considerable advance compared with previous time, but imports were needed to meet the domestic demand. At the present time some thirty-five Canadian toy factories are listed, although the census returns of 1918 reported only fifteen. The kinds of toys made there include animals, autos, balls, billiard games, boats, building blocks, carriages, crokinole boards, croquet sets, dishes, dolls' furniture, games, garden sets, lawn swings, pool tables, tricycles and wheelbarrows, which are made of celluloid, enamel, iron, steel, tin, rubber and wood.

Last year Canada exported $139,052 worth of dolls and toys, the United States taking $5,635 worth and the United Kingdom $120,322.

ONE FLAW IN BRIGHT IDEA

Janitor Called On as "Dinner Substitute" Might Object to Personal Inconvenience Involved.

A young Indianapolis physician had been invited by a school teacher to accompany her to a dinner party at which he was an absolute stranger. He accepted the invitation, but at the last minute had to break it. "But you can take some other man and pass him off for me," he offered, generously. "No one there knows me, so it'll go all right."

The teacher hesitated. "But they know most of the men I know," she said. And then a sudden smile came over her face. "I might take our school janitor. He's new in the city, but you could give him some of your clothes and it would probably pass."

"But how does he talk?" asked the doctor, a little bit doubtful of the scheme now.

"Oh, his talking is all right," assured the teacher, and smiled wider than ever again. "There's only one thing I'm not sure about. He chews tobacco, and I wondered if he would do without for that long." —Indianapolis News.

American Gobs as Gondollers.

American gobs are learning how to become gondollers, and an American school has for the first time included gondollering as a regular course. In Venice the Knights of Columbus operate a social service club on the banks of the Grand canal, and in connection with the club the Knights of Columbus maintain a well-equipped school, run on the lines of the Knights of Columbus free night schools in America. French, Italian, Turkish and other languages are taught in the school to the men of the American Mediterranean naval unit, as well as navigation and other technical courses.

Now gondollering has been added, as the American sailors relish driving themselves and their Venetian friends around the gem of the Adriatic in gondolas. Some of the sailors are becoming expert in handling the picturesque craft, Knights of Columbus Commissioner Edward L. Hearn reports.

Only Natural.

The school principal had been busy all day selecting children from the various classes, to do some special work. She was very tired and also very much pre-occupied when the janitor entered her office. In response to her mechanical nod he began: "Miss M—, that crossing out there is dangerous. If they don't send us a traffic officer some of the children in this school are going to get killed."

She had not really heard his speech, for he was always complaining, so she made no answer. And then he repeated his assertion with some emphasis, adding: "They are going to get killed out there—some of our children."

She had caught the last phrase, and mechanically, after her day of classifying, said: "Then I had better pick out the ones I prefer for that."

And the janitor fled.

Goat Disclosed Rich Mine.

A mountain goat recently was responsible for the discovery of what is believed to be one of the most valuable mines in British Columbia, which had been hunted by prospectors for years, after rich float ore had been found. A Finn was hunting mountain goats high above timber line. He had trailed an animal for miles when it came out on a glacier and stood in full view against the sky on a pinnacle of ice. Finn's rifle cracked and the goat fell dead down a steep precipice and rolled several hundred feet. Its body fetched up near the foot of the glacier and when Finn reached it he found it had dislodged a massive rock beneath which the long-sought-for vein lay exposed.

Men Agree to a Small Wage Cut

Establishment of the proposed rates would put the small bottles out of business, would create competition which they cannot meet and would cause the Montgomery company to get the business which is now dividing among the small companies.

The company contends that the present rates are excessive and that it cannot do business in the towns about Montgomery without the erection of bottling plants in the various towns.

Other cases heard and took under advisement during the day follow: Southern Railway, petitions to close agency stations at Weaver and Jonifer.

Seaboard Air Line Railroad, petitions to close telegraph offices at Rutherford and Hannon.

Louisville and Nashville railroad, petition to close agency at Banner. Alabama, Tennessee and Northern railroad, petition for cancellation of tariffs on lumber between points to and from which no lumber is now moving.

Northern Alabama Traction Company, petition to operate street cars in Albany and Decatur with only one man.

A compromise was reached in the case of the Dothan Syrup Company, which had asked lower rates on syrup from Dothan to points on the Atlantic Coast. Central of Georgia railroads, The Louisville and Nashville railroad, made a defendant, by the original petition, was stricken from the complaint.

Convicts Useful.

Old and maimed convicts in the penitentiary at Wetumpka, who have been a liability of the state for a long time, have been made useful in the manufacture of horse collars and other useful articles from corn shucks. The convict department had on exhibition in the executive department Monday a horse collar and mat which had been manufactured by the convicts. The manufacture of these articles will be profitable because they can be used at the state farms and convict camps. Heretofore, the state has been forced to purchase them in the markets.

The "Burning Tree."

The leaves and stems of the "burning tree" of India are covered with stinging hairs, after the manner of the common nettle, but are of a far more virulent nature. When touched the sensation felt is as of being hurt with red hot iron, the pain extending over other parts of the body and lasting several days.

TO THE PEOPLE OF ALBANY-DECATUR AND VICINITY.

After a residence here of about 28 years I am leaving for California, my boyhood home. Permit me to thank one and all for the consideration shown me and for the many kindnesses of which I have been the recipient of at your hands. I have tried to give a square deal and have received just that from you. In expressing my good will for the Southland and its people I am voicing the sincere affection and attachment which I have always felt and always will.

Sincerely,
Adv. GEO. M. WEBB.

NEW PROGRAM ON LIQUOR IS PLANNED BY ADMINISTRATION

By W. H. ATKINS.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In matters of whiskey, it depends upon the viewpoint.

"If you're dry, you know much booze is loose in the land, or in wet in sympathy, the wonder is why liquor is so scarce," said John Kramer, dry laws boss, in discussing the divergence of view in the pros and cons in whiskey discussions.

Kramer and his clan that have had to bear the brunt trying to enforce prohibition agree that as long as human hands raise corn and make copper coils the United States of America will be "wet" somewhere at all times.

None of the "dry" official crowd after witnessing one year's results are pinning any roses on themselves. Officials say progress has been made. But liquor floods seem to come in greater volume. With these ever-increasing new sources of supply, there are cropping out from time to time entirely new liquor problems to confound liquor law enforcers.

New interpretations of the Volstead law, holding that Government officials are not authorized to put limitations upon makers and sellers of alcoholic liquors, expect in so far as Congress may have specified, are expected to have a good effect in enforcement over the country. The new Administration foresees a more general observance of the law. New administration officials, having supervision of prohibition, are cutting away from erratic methods which have provoked general criticism.

The new programme, as now outlined to combat some of the present hostility to the Volstead law, is to stop needless tinkering with the law's provisions, which convey authority to certain classes to buy, sell and use non-beverage liquors.

The drug store end of the liquor problem is now regarded as one of the most important. In the past even devout "drys" have hated to walk forty blocks to a pharmacist to obtain liquor on a doctor's prescription. And when he locates a druggist, even your "dry" enthusiast wants for his sick friend liquor that is pure. He does not want to buy from a mercenary druggist a diluted concoction and pay for it a price that represents 300 or even 400 per cent above what ought to be a reasonable figure. Until now it has been difficult to obtain good whiskey on a doctor's prescription even after a druggist has been located with one of the coveted permits to handle medicinal liquors.

This peculiar situation has been encouraged by the attitude of a set of enforcement officials who secured much of their inspiration for such a line of official conduct from hidden but powerful forces in the "extra dry" element at Washington and elsewhere.

The policy of restricting permits to druggists and doctors, and of discriminating between those classes, in an effort to limit the number of outstanding permits in given localities, simply because dry law officers believed a certain number would be sufficient to supply all needs is about to go into the discard along with a lot of other practices, now shown to have been of doubtful value to the cause of enforcement. Physicians will be encouraged to obtain liquor permits and restrictions against druggists have been relaxed. Other equally "liberal" means are to be taken to bring about a more general respect for the law as it was framed by Congress.

Do Not Disturb the Silk Worms.

In the Chinese silk worm hatching rooms the temperature is tested by naked men. Thanks to the sensitivity of their skins these fellows keep the best measure just right. As you stand in the vast Chinese silk worm houses you hear not only the sound of the worms feeding on mulberry leaves, but also the actual sound of the silk spinning—the spinning of their cocoons—a sound like rustling rain.

OLD TANNERS DID GOOD WORK

Leather Made in China 3,000 Years Ago Has Been Found in Comparatively Good Condition.

Originally skins were cured by simply cleaning and drying. Then it was found the texture of the leather was improved by the use of smoke, sour milk, various oils and the brains of animals themselves. Later it was discovered that certain astringent herbs and vegetables effected permanent changes in the texture of skins and stopped decay. The ancient Egyptians possessed this knowledge, for engravings on their tombs depict the process of tanning. In China specimens of leather have been discovered in company with other relics that prove them to be more than 3,000 years old.

Romans used leather which they tanned with oil, alum and bark. Early explorers in America found the Indians wearing skins prepared with buffalo dung, oil and clay.

No improvement in the general methods of preparing leather took place from the most primitive times until about 1790, when the use of lime to loosen the hair was introduced. By 1825 English tanners were attempting to introduce new methods by which the tanning process could be shortened. One of the pioneers in these experiments was John Burridge, the inventor of the barkometer, an instrument for determining the strength of tanning liquors.

In 1830 the first tannery in America was built in Virginia. A second one was established a few years later at Lynn, Mass.

Hundred Species of Petrels.

Scattered over widespread areas of the ocean are more than 100 species of petrels, but among the most interesting are the fulmars. Sailors of British vessels commonly refer to them as "mollymawks," a corruption of malmuccia. The birds, in great flocks follow in the wake of ships, and are especially fond of whaling vessels, for they like the substance that is thrown out in the refuse from whale cleaning. The fulmars range over the North Atlantic from 45 degrees latitude on the American side, and lower, to 63 degrees as the farthest south, on the European side.

The new programme, as now outlined to combat some of the present hostility to the Volstead law, is to stop needless tinkering with the law's provisions, which convey authority to certain classes to buy, sell and use non-beverage liquors.

SMALL GIRL STAYED PANIC

Her Incidence That Pet Parrot Should Be Saved Gave Fellow Passengers Time to Reason.

Eight years old, shared heroic honors with a pet parrot in a tale of fire at sea told by passengers landing from the steamship Carago at Havana, Cuba.

The little golden-haired girl, who is a daughter of Edward Ware Barrett, a newspaper publisher of Birmingham, Ala., refused to enter a lifeboat until she had brought her parrot from her stateroom, and her insistent demand that the bird be rescued calmed something approaching a panic among the passengers and gave the ship's crew a chance to extinguish the flames and save the steamer.

While steaming along the coast of Panama one night, the Carago was set on fire by an overheated motor. The blaze seemed to threaten the safety of those on board, and an alarm was sounded. The passengers gathered on deck and were ready to enter the boats, when Miss Kitty discovered she had left her parrot behind in her stateroom.

She refused to enter the boat until Capt. George A. McBride sent for the bird. Frightened men and women paused to laugh at the calmness of the child and her concern over the safety of her pet, and when the steward brought the parrot to the deck, he also announced the fire had been brought under control by the chief engineer.

ATHENS NEWS

Friday night being the first Friday in April was the regular date for the city school board meeting and time for the election of a new board. The election resulted as follows: Mrs. Homer French was elected for one year; Miss Bessie Sykes for 2 years; R. B. Patton for 3 years; Will Howard for 4 years and Harry Walker for 5 years. The entire old board asked to be relieved of their duties as none cared to serve. Mr. Patton, who was serving an unexpired term, was re-elected, however.

Leo Warten, who was seriously wounded several days ago, is recovering. He was cleaning a rusty firearm, the gun was accidentally discharged, a slight flesh wound being inflicted in Mr. Warten's side.

The little daughter of Mr. Allen has typhoid fever.

The Young People Societies held a union meeting at the Methodist church Sunday, with a very interesting program. The public is well pleased with the progress of the young people's organizations.

Mrs. A. E. McClellan, after a month's stay with her son, Judge Thomas McClellan, of Montgomery, returned home Thursday.

The many friends of Mrs. Woodruff will be pleased to learn of her steady improvement, following a long illness.

Mr. Sanders, who recently suffered a serious nervous breakdown, is improving at a Nashville infirmary.

Sloan's Liniment, kept handy, takes the fight out of them

SLOSHING around in the wet and then—the dreaded rheumatic twinge! But not for long when Sloan's Liniment is put on the job! Pains, strains, sprains—how soon this old family friend penetrates without rubbing and helps drive 'em away! And how cleanly, too—no muss, no bother, no stained skin or clogged pores. Muscles limber up, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, backache are promptly relieved. Keep a bottle handy. Get one today if you've run out of Sloan's Liniment, it's so warming.

All druggists—35c, 70c, $1.40. The largest bottle holds six times as much as the smallest.

Sloan's Liniment (Pain's enemy)

To cleanse the blood, strengthen the kidneys and regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, Prickley Ash Bitters is a remedy that has proved its worth. It promotes activity in body and brain. Price $1.25 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.—Adv.

CATARHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parnit (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

Another Albany Case

It Proves That There's A Way Out For Many Suffering Albany Folks.

Just another report of a case in Albany. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Albany with Doan's Kidney Pills.

J. W. Ezell, 1301 Fourth Avenue, says: "My kidneys became affected, I believe, from a cold and sharp pains often took me in the small of my back. When I stooped or lifted anything, I would get sudden twinges through my kidneys at night. Mornings I arose unrefreshed and was usually tired. I had headaches, dizzy spells and spots continually passed before my eyes. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box and used them as directed. Two boxes entirely cured me."

The above statement was given April 28, 1911 and on February 28, 1918, Mr. Ezell said: "I have had no return of kidney trouble since taking Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago and I cheerfully confirm the statement I gave at that time."

To My Customers and Every Citizen of Albany, Decatur, Austinville and Fairview:

On and After April 15th, 1921, I Will Sell For Cash

This means that you can get your groceries A GREAT DEAL CHEAPER. Your trade in the past has been highly appreciated. I hope that you will not think hard of me for this step as it is a ground hog case with me. Times are hard and need loosening up. The best way to do this is to pay cash and pay less. When you go into a store and say what is your best cash price on certain things you are going to get it because now is the time that money will make a fellow lay his prices down. There goes mine, call up and see. I will still carry a full line of groceries and the best feed in town for Cows, Horses, Hogs and Chickens. This feed is all manufactured by me at my own mill. I am receiving fresh supplies every day and my mill is open for inspection any time, so that you can see that nothing but the best grain is used in preparing this wholesome feed. Deliveries to any part of town. Your order will receive prompt attention. I also make the best Meal in town. Try a peck. The firms names listed below will have a fresh supply on hand all the time and will be glad to take your order for any of the things mentioned below:

IDEAL DAIRY FEED

I make Ideal Dairy Feed. It is the best in town. I have a large number of happy customers feeding this feed now and expect to get a great many more. This feed is made from the very best grain of many kinds. You should by all means try one sack. This is the best feed in town regardless of name or price. No doubt you have been paying $3.25 per hundred for feed. You can buy Ideal Dairy Feed at any of the stores listed below for $2.75 per hundred. You should by all means order Ideal Dairy Feed the next time you order cow feed. I positively guarantee this feed to please both cow and owner. What is the use of you paying 50 cents more for a sack of feed when you can get one better for 50c less. Every time you feed six sacks you gain a sack. Is this worth while or not. If your groceryman is not listed below, just call Albany 59 and tell me what you want.

MEAL

I make the best Meal in town. Don't take my word, take a peck of meal and try it. The meal is made from the best corn that money can buy and is ground on a patent mill that blows all the faulty part out, then it goes into a sifter, this gets all the bran out. Come to my mill and see for yourself, that you get nothing but the heart and the other best part. Absolutely the best meal in town. This meal will cost you 5c or 10c more per peck than bolted meal. The bolted meal has got nothing but the flinty part of the grain in it. You know that this hasn't much flavor about it. The heart, the very best part is taken out. This is done so that it will keep, when large quantities are put on the market. It will take at least 20c more hard to a peck of this meal than it will the meal I make. My meal is far better and some cheaper. In the long run. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you are not satisfied. This meal is ground fresh every day and the stores listed below will have a fresh supply every day and will take your order and give it prompt attention. You should by all means use this meal and no other. If your grocer's name is not listed here, just call Albany 59 and tell me your wants. This meal will cost you:

CHICKEN CHOWDER

I make Chicken Chowder as good as there is in town, it is made with the choicest grain that grows. This feed is carefully prepared to suit the whole family of chickens from the time they see day light until they die with old age. It is especially good for baby chicks and laying hens. For baby chicks it should be fed dry, there's none so good. Do not fail to try one peck, this will convince you that it is the best. You have been paying 40 or 50 cents for Chicken Chowder and getting only 8¼ lbs. you get 12 lbs. of this for 45 cents, see the difference. Call for home ground Chicken Chowder and accept no other. This will be identified by the letters C. C. with crayon and S. O. F. stamped on each peck. The price will be as follows:

12 lbs.....45c
25 lbs.....85c

Why "Laundered" Shirts Last so Much Longer

No doubt you have often wondered why a laundered shirt wears so much longer; why it keeps so crisply clean.

This is the reason—in laundering these shirts our scientific process fills the pores of the fabric, and presses the fibres closely together, imparting fine, smooth, soil-resisting finish.

We leave no soft, spongy surface to attract and hold dust and dirt; no loose threads to roughen and tear.

As a result, each shirt stays clean longer; each shirt gives you more service—you feel better and look better in shirts which we have laundered.

Give this modern shirt-saving and shirt-cleaning method a trial. Telephone and our driver will call for and deliver your bundle.

Within the Law.
"Look at that fellow in there with a loaded revolver," said our waggy friend at the beach yesterday—and when, somewhat startled, we gazed through the doorway what we saw was merely a big merry-go-round full of young folks and in the center the proprietor thereof. — Boston Train.

HUMANS A FAMILY OF "FORGETTERS"

"Lest we forget" was the subject of a sermon by Rev. L. F. Goodwin preceding a largely attended communion service at Westminster Presbyterian church Sunday Morning.

Dr. Goodwin said in part: "The human race is a family of forgetters. How prone we are to forget engagements. We are even forgetful of our friends and obligations to those who are dear to us. Possibly some one present has forgotten to write to mother though you promised her to write regularly. She is feeble now and time passes wearily as she anxiously looks for the letter you forgot to write. Already we are beginning to show signs of forgetting the boys who pass out of our mind."

Forget Christ.
"Jesus knew of our forgetfulness and therefore said this do in remembrance of Me. In the busy rush of life we allow to struggle for wealth, social position and entertainment to crowd Him out of our thoughts."

"Even the voluminous church organizations may cause us to lose sight of the Great Head of the church. The endless number of societies, the clamor for money to carry on the work and the committees appointed for special work are calculated to make us feel that these are the only essentials to the success of the church. We forget that He said 'without Me we can do nothing.'"

Monument Erected.
"He desired that a monument should be erected to His memory. So He said 'This do in remembrance of Me,' referring to the simple elements of bread and wine. Granite, marble, brass or iron would not do. These would decay with time. So He instituted this supper which has been handed down through the centuries to us, and we partake of them today, 'in remembrance' of Him."

Dr. F. J. Tyler, of Elkmont, preached in the evening to a large and appreciative audience.

Philosophy of Life.

Instead of lamenting and bemoaning what seems to be cruel life, we can, if we have the right philosophy of life, find a harmonious note in it. A disagreeable environment from which we cannot at present extricate ourselves. As the oyster covers with pearls the irritating sand which has got it to its shell and makes of it a thing of beauty, so we, too, with kindness, courage and good cheer, can convert the conditions which now seem unlikable to us into sunshine and gladness.—Orison Swett Marden.

PURE WATER FOR HOLY CITY

British Have Repaired Pontius Pilate's Reservoir and Death Rate Has Dropped One-Half.

Jerusalem, situated outside the valley of the Kedron, boasts of only one small spring, the Virgin's fount, so named because it is believed the Mother of Christ drew water from it. Ever since Solomon's day the want of water has been felt in Jerusalem, and the British, since their occupation, decided to repair and use the old reservoir, now known as Birket Assoub and lying a few miles to the south of Solomon's pool. It was built by Pontius Pilate and it was from here that he brought water to the city in the days of Christ. Pilate's old reservoir was repaired and enlarged, its capacity today being 5,000,000 gallons. Galleries were built in various directions to tap the numerous surrounding springs, including those of Ain ed Dirweh, in which, it is said, Philip baptized the eunuch. A powerful pumping plant was installed by which the water is pumped up to large reservoirs built on higher ground on the Hebron road, the water flowing from here by its own gravity in one-foot iron pipe to twin pools on the hill west of the city, from whence it is conducted to various standpipes in and around Jerusalem. Pilate's aqueduct, ruins of which dot the landscape today, stretched for a distance of 40 miles, though as the crow flies the Holy city lies but 13 miles away. The British pipe line, however, is but 15 miles in total length. As a result of this British enterprise the death rate in the city has dropped by one-half.

FINALLY SCARED CROWS OFF

Device Employed by Los Angeles Man Was Somewhat More Effective Than Neighbor's Umbrella.

"Not long ago a friend of mine from Birmingham was sitting on my front porch when a flock of crows flew across one of my fields," said R. B. Posey, "and he remarked that it was the biggest lot he had seen for years, and asked if they did not injure my crops. I replied that until I got onto a way to keep them out of my watermelon patch they ruined a lot of them by pecking holes in one and then hopping for another."

"I tried various ways but without success, until I put poles around the patch and ran just an ordinary piece of cotton around them about eight feet from the ground, and between the poles tied pieces of cotton to flap in the wind. It worked like a charm."

"A neighbor of mine used to say that he was advised to put an old umbrella in the middle of the patch, and he did it, but one day creeping up behind it, he peeped over it and there sat a bunch of crows having a watermelon feast."—Los Angeles Times.

No New-Fangled Notions.

John came from down state to the city schools. He was placed in the seventh grade, and then his teacher's troubles began. His mother thought the course of study should be identical with the one which had held sway in the faraway red schoolhouse. She objected strenuously to physical culture and music, saying they were a waste of time.

And then came John's first day at manual training. The next day came an indignant note to the teacher from John's mother. It read: "Dear Miss — I want you to quit having John waste his time at school. That music and physical torture exercise was bad enough, but now you begin to learn him to whittle. Please stop it immediately or I'll change him to another school. He inherits whittling from his father and his brains from me. I'm paying to educate him, so educate his brains."—Indianapolis News.

Superheated Steam.

"Two decades ago few would have admitted the possibility of permanently regularly producing steam at temperatures of from 550 degrees to 650 degrees Fahrenheit within the restricted area of the ordinary locomotive boiler. Now thousands of locomotives use this superheated steam, and its use is increasing."

By heating steam 180 degrees Fahrenheit above the saturation temperature "hot steam" is produced. With this increase of temperature the steam is dried and the volume is increased. But the increase of volume is less important than the suppression of all condensation in the cylinder. If the superheat is sufficiently high. Hot steam being a bad conductor it also reduces loss by cooling in the cylinders from 25 to 30 per cent, according to type and structure of the engine.

Cave Has Natural Heat.

A naturally heated cave has been discovered at Horse Butte, near Bend, Ore., which apparently draws its warmth from a subterranean volcanic source. The discovery was made by C. A. Yarnell and H. D. Elde, local fuel dealers. The cave is located near the top of the butte and first attracted attention when a wave of heat was felt issuing from the mouth. The cinder bottom and rock walls of the tunnel are unbearably hot to the touch, the heat increasing as far back as could be explored. That the phenomenon is a recent manifestation was indicated by the smoldering of grass and twigs near the opening. To test the natural oven Mr. Yarnell cooked a light breakfast by introducing raw articles of food into the aperture and closing the orifice for a few moments.

Alma and Jennie had come from different towns, but were visiting Myra, our four-year-old. The children were strangers to each other and rather slow at becoming acquainted. Myra was heard saying, "Alma, meet Jennie; Jennie, meet Alma; now bow and let's play hard."

BOYS IN ACTION SEEN AT PRINCESS

The war was brought home to hundreds of Twin City residents Monday when action pictures, showing the American troops on the battle front, was shown at the Princess theatre under the auspices of The American Legion for the benefit of the latter's home building fund.

The pictures were taken by Corporal Ingelston, of the signal corps, and are actual views of the fighting. The views were taken with the 167th (Rainbow) division, of which Company E, was a unit.

The films will be shown again Tuesday afternoon and night. This afternoon school children of the Twin Cities are enjoying a special matinee, in charge of members of the faculty. The picture is of a much educational value, giving the general public its first opportunity to see in the movies the actual battle scenes.

THE CHICKEN IN THE CASE.

Delite Today.)

"The Chicken in the Case" with Owen Moore is another of his delightful comedy characterizations will be the feature photoplay attraction at the Delite theatre today and the patrons of this theatre who will attend on that date may safely anticipate a merry evening.

Supporting Mr. Moore, whose role of Steve Perkins is said to be the best of his entire career, will be found Katherine Perry, the famous beauty who was awarded the Golden Apple as being the most beautiful girl in New York; Teddy Sampson, another talented and pretty photoplayer; Vivian Ogden, in the role of the vigorous Aunt Sarah, and Edgar Nelson, as the real husband of "the chicken in the case."

Feet.

To dream you bathe your feet de notes trouble in collecting money which is due you. To dream of large or deformed feet foretells a journey which will cost you many tears. To scratch the bottom of your feet de notes treachery and flattery. To have no feet at all is an evil omen; it foretells some great calamity. Cold feet foretells a quarrel with a friend.
